

Joint Surgical Colleges Fellowship Examination

Cardiothoracic Surgery

Examination Regulations 2015

1. Applicants must be six years medically qualified
2. Applicants would normally have passed the MRCS examination of one of the four Surgical Royal Colleges but this is currently not mandatory
3. Applicants must have successfully completed a locally recognised surgical training programme and are required to provide evidence of having achieved the required standard of a recognised specialist (day one NHS UK/Ireland consultant standard) in the generality of Cardiothoracic Surgery
4. This evidence must consist of three structured references as follows:
 - The principal referee must be the applicant's current Head of Department or Head of the Recognised Training Committee/Programme in which the applicant has participated
 - The second referee must be a senior clinician who has worked with the applicant and has knowledge of the applicant's work in his/her speciality within the last two years
 - The third referee must be a senior clinician who has worked with the applicant and has knowledge of the applicant's work in his/her speciality within the last two years
5. The final decision on eligibility for admission to the examination will lie with the Intercollegiate Specialty Board in Cardiothoracic Surgery
6. Examination Attempts
Candidates will have up to a maximum of 7 years to complete the examination process as follows:
Section 1: Candidates will have a maximum of 4 attempts with no re-entry
Section 2: Candidates will have a maximum of 4 attempts with no re-entry

All previous Regulations will be rescinded www.jscfe.co.uk enquiries@jscfe.co.uk